

I do not think New Jersey's "Do Not Call" law should be overturned. I should be able to engage in business transactions with companies without having my privacy invaded and my time taken from me. I don't see how engaging in a business transaction gives a company the right to solicitation calls for 18 months when I specifically signed up not to receive those calls. It's a violation of my rights.